During the Plenary meeting of the Sectoral Social Dialogue Committee for Civil Aviation held on 5 June 2014, the European social partners of the Air Crew Working Group present at meeting expressed their concern with recent developments in the aviation industry that seriously threaten the European social model, employment, and fair competition in the aviation market.

At issue is a new ‘business model’ that makes use of a “flag of convenience” in Europe, resulting in a distortion of social conditions and competition. A precedent for this business model is currently being set by a non-EU airline that has obtained an operating license in an EU Member State despite having no substantial aviation activities in that county and without planning to have any base within the EU.

European airlines provide extensive and comparatively decent employment in Europe in contrast to the history of decline in the European maritime sector – here the past permissive attitude towards the use of flags of convenience has been devastating to industry and employment alike, and must be taken into account to avoid significant aviation job losses in Europe.

This deliberate choice of establishment in a Member State in order to avoid the social laws of another country is what defines a “flag of convenience” – a phenomenon unanimously condemned by the international community. Furthermore, replacing local crews with non-European Economic Area (EEA) workers, subject to lower terms and employment conditions, amounts to social dumping at the expense of the European social security systems and the employees. This cannot be tolerated within the EU.

The European social partners of the Air Crew Working Group urged the European Commission to decisively stop this kind of development before it spreads.

The European social partners of the Air Crew Working Group called upon the European Parliament, the Council of Ministers and the Commission to take urgent action to:

- Prevent the development of EU-based flags of convenience in aviation, or the importing of non-EU flags of convenience in the sector, and
- Revise Regulation 1008/2008 including the definition of «place of business» to ensure that EU operating licences can only be issued in the country where the operator has substantial aviation activities, including a substantial number of flights, crews and bases in line with existing case law and other EU legislative measures. Following that the requirement in recital 9 of this regulation on national and Community social legislation should be render mandatory, and
- Ensure that the aviation authority who delivers the AOC to the airline is required to assess the effective base of the crew and undertakes regular checks, and
- Co-ordinate and revise legislation on visas and work permits for non-EEA based crews to prevent any possible illegal use of foreign workers on board EU registered airplanes operating in or from the EU. This should include a revision of Directive 2011/98 EU (single permit directive) to extend its application to mobile workers in civil aviation.

Those urgent changes are a crucial first step to ensure the credibility of the European Union’s determination, both in Europe and internationally, to build fair and open aviation markets and to guarantee the competitiveness of the European industry and the preservation of European jobs.
